

Application Development

SATEVA Application Development Services

Introduction

Do you require a “one of a kind” computer system to be developed? Or don’t want to implement a software package that doesn’t meet your business requirements? The natural resource industries are under-served by suitable off the shelf business applications. Instead exploration and mining companies often need to custom develop applications to suit their business requirements. The staff at SATEVA have been designing, developing, and implementing solutions for the exploration and mining industries for more than 15 years.

Experience

We’ve developed everything from exploration drill hole systems to grade control, geo-metallurgical, ore tracking, reconciliation, and block model management solutions. Business knowledge is everything when designing and developing new business systems. Entrust your new business application to a specialist company that understands the exploration, mining, and processing business.

Methodology

We focus heavily on customer engagement to understand and document your business requirements. Once the requirements are understood and have been signed off by the client, we then use an “agile” development methodology to design, develop, test, and implement the new system. In short, SATEVA’s “agile” methodology means that the new system is designed and developed in a series of short cycles involving frequent collaboration with the client. This approach ensures improved team communication, frequent customer engagement, and a system that is delivered on time and is aligned with your business requirements.

Technical Skills

SATEVA’s staff has expertise in Microsoft.Net, ASP.Net, C#.Net, VB.Net, T-SQL, and PL/SQL programming languages, and Oracle, SQL Server, and Microsoft Analysis Services database technologies. Leverage our expertise in application development technologies from Microsoft and Oracle to deliver Web or Windows applications that deliver the application you originally envisioned.

About SATEVA

SATEVA is a provider of software development and IT consulting services to the mining and exploration industries. SATEVA’s solutions are easy to use and provide the right information anywhere anytime. For more information contact SATEVA on +61 8 9270 4000.